Dereje: Hi, Kanako. I hear that your club will have “the tea ceremony” at the school festival next week. What is it?

Kanako: Hi, Dereje. It’s a traditional Japanese ceremony. In the ceremony we make a cup of tea for our visitors. Have you ever drunk Japanese tea?

Dereje: Yes, but I like coffee better. Coffee was created in my country.

Kanako: Really? I thought that it was created in another country.

Dereje: The word “coffee” is from “KAFFA”. It is the name of a place in my country.

Kanako: I didn’t know that.

Dereje: Well, we have a custom called “the coffee ceremony” in my country.

Kanako: The coffee ceremony? How do you do that?

Dereje: First we roast the coffee beans, and then we make coffee for our visitors three times in the traditional way. While we are drinking coffee, we enjoy talking with each other. That is very important in the coffee ceremony. So it takes a few hours to finish the ceremony.

Kanako: Do you enjoy talking during the ceremony?

Dereje: Of course. Why did you ask such a thing?

Kanako: Because I was surprised. We don’t usually talk much during our ceremony.

Dereje: Wow, that’s a big  between the two ceremonies! I want to join your club’s tea ceremony next week, and try to keep quiet.

I am a member of my junior high school's soccer club. Two weeks ago, our team had an important soccer game. We tried our best, but our team lost because I made an easy mistake. After that, I didn't play soccer with my teammates.

This morning, my grandfather said to me, "Let's climb a mountain today. We can enjoy the great view of our town from the top." I knew that he often climbed mountains. Why did he tell me to climb the mountain with him? I didn't know the reason. I didn't want to climb it, but I decided to go because I had nothing special to do.

I was very surprised. My grandfather climbed the mountain so fast. I felt tired and I sat down. He smiled and said, "Are you all right, Masato? We will get to the top soon." I never thought that climbing was so hard.

Finally we got to the top. I said, "Why can you climb the mountain so fast?" My grandfather said, "I climb mountains every week. Sometimes I can't get to the top because it is so hard to climb a mountain. So I keep practicing for two hours every day." "Really?" He said, "Yes. It is important to keep practicing. Masato, do you play soccer every day?" "Well... actually I don't play it now." "Why?" "We lost the game because I made an easy mistake. It was the last game that I could play with my seniors. So..." He said, "You made a mistake, so you don't want to play soccer, right? I have never played soccer and I don't know very much about it. Everyone makes mistakes, but we can learn many things from them. Good players keep practicing. I want to get to the top of all the mountains in Japan, so I keep practicing." I said, "Great! I should  like you, right?" "Good boy, Masato! Now, let's go down the mountain."

This time my grandfather walked slowly. He said, "You should be careful when you go down a mountain." "Why? I think it's easy to go down." Then, I fell down! Luckily, I didn't get injured. He said, "I began to climb mountains ten years ago. At that time, I also thought so, but then I got injured when I was going down." "Really? I didn't know that." He said, "When we do things that look easy, we should be careful." I remembered the soccer game two weeks ago, and said, "Can you say the same thing about playing soccer?" He said, "Yes, of course. Today I wanted to tell you two things. Do you understand them?"

Why did my grandfather take me to the mountain today? He took me there because he wanted to tell me these two important things. His words gave me the courage to play soccer. I am going to play soccer tomorrow.

〔注〕 try one's best = ベストを尽くす      teammate = チームメイト      top = 頂上
senior = 先輩      luckily = 幸運にも      get injured = けがをする      courage = 勇気

6 次の英文を読んで、1, 2, 3, 4の問いに答えなさい。

About 2,000 years ago, a man in China developed the way to make paper from trees. Before then, people used other things to write on. People tried to write on many things, like rocks or the skin of animals. Later, people thought that paper made from trees was the best for writing, and people started using it.

As you know, we use paper for books, newspapers, or paper cups. We also use it to make cardboard boxes. Some people think that paper is too soft to make a box and that it is better to use plastic or metal. Actually, these things are stronger than paper, but we can make paper strong when we put many pieces of paper together. When we finish using cardboard boxes, we can easily recycle and dispose of them. Also, they are light and it is easy to carry them. These are their good points.

Do you know “high performance paper”? This is special paper. There are many kinds of “high performance paper” in the world. For example, there is paper which is strong ( ) water. We can write on it in the rain or in the water. There is paper which is strong ( ) fire. We use this kind of paper as wallpaper in houses. Some companies are developing new kinds of high performance paper. These new kinds of paper are useful and [ ]. What can we do with “high performance paper” in the future?
